THE MANCHESTER

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

O magnify the Lord
with me,
And let us exalt His name
together.
For with Him is the fountain of life,
And in His light shall we see light.

A FOREWORD to this PRODUCTION.

In the beginning it was planned to make this only a record and listing of the names of the members of the church congregation from 1911-1958 inclusive and not including the names of any not now members. This plan has been carried out although there have been omissions and inaccuracies because of lack of data.

Since the Historical Commission of the General Conference requested the family names and names of the parents and children in the congregation in the Anniversary Year 1958, the names that are found in the 1959 directory as corrected up to March 1960 are also included as a separate section.

Then an attempt was made to secure a record as far as possible of the baptisms that occurred during the period 1911-1958 and earlier. This record is very incomplete because many of these records if ever made are lost. This is very important data.

Some official lists are given, dates of ordinations to the eldership, calling of ministers, and pastorates and elders who have served.

The history of the church written by Otho Winger in 1942 has also been included as well as some later data.

The committee and compiler wish to thank all those who have helped. Good help came from Mrs. E.L.Burger, Mrs. Etta Butterbaugh, Miss Ruth Dillman, and many others. To C.L.Gottman and Lloyd M. Hoff we are indebted for some of the pictures included.

FOREWORD

This brief history of the congregation was authorized by the Manchester Church in its regular council meeting of July, 1941, at which time a committee was appointed to prepare and publish the material. Obviously the story had to be abbreviated, for to have included all the interesting incidents and biographical sketches that could have been collected would have resulted in a volume too large and expensive for the present purpose. For the same reason the emphasis has been placed on the story of earlier years less familiar to the present generation and the events and persons of the later history have been omitted or passed with mere mention.

Much of the material in this booklet has been published before. But here is presented in a convenient form the story of the founding and growth of the Church of the Brethren in the Manchester community.

It is the hope of the committee that this record of the work of our fathers may be an inspiration to those who will carry on in the future, so that the history of the next hundred years may record an even greater growth.

The Walnut Street Church

The North Manchester Congregation

NORTH MANCHESTER, INDIANA

The Manchester Congregation is the second largest congregation in the Church of the Brethren, having more than one thousand members. While not among the oldest of our organizations, it has had an important and interesting history.

The first members came from Montgomery county, Ohio, where there were many members of the church and strong congregations. In 1836 Joseph Harter and wife settled on Eel River where the town of North Manchester now is located. With them came their son, Eli Harter and wife. Eli Harter built the second dwelling in North Manchester, the first being a mere cabin built by Peter Ogan, who laid out the town and soon after moved away. To Eli Harter and wife, a few months after their arrival, was born a daughter, whom they called, Phoebe. She later became Mrs. D. S. T. Butterbaugh, the mother of Henry and Esli Butterbaugh. Other members soon came from Ohio to this Eel River country, as it was called. Daniel Swank settled north of town, Isaac and David Ulrey still farther north; also Samuel Ulrey, Jacob Cripe, Jacob Swihart, Jacob Metzger and others. Their closest Brethren minister was Elder William Moss of Mexico, Indiana. He came and preached occasionally to these scattered members.

The Eel River congregation was organized in 1838, when Joseph Harter was called to the ministry and Isaac Ulrey was elected deacon. The territory of this new congregation was large, stretching along Eel river for many miles. Most of the members lived north of the present town of North Manchester. The original territory has since been divided into the present congregations: Manchester, West Manchester, Eel River, West Eel River, Liberty Mills, and Spring Creek.

David Ulrey was called to the ministry in 1839. In 1841 Elder Nicholas Frantz came from Clark County, Ohio. He settled three miles west of town, where he raised a large family, the ancestors of most of the Frantz families in and about North Manchester today. In 1840 two deacons, Philip Weybright and Jacob Stevens moved here from Ohio. Jacob Metzger and Jacob Cripe were called to the ministry in 1844. And so the congregation grew by immigration and by baptism. Visiting ministers from northern Indiana, James Tracy, Jacob Miller, and others gave valuable help.

The First Division of Territory

In 1852 the original congregation was divided into the Eel River and Manchester congregations. Though the first members were on the Manchester side, the northern part retained the original name, since it seemed best for the southern part to take the name of the town, Manchester, as the present North Manchester was at first called. Most of the officials at first lived on the Eel River side, but others were moving into the Manchester congregation. Joseph Harter and Nicholas Frantz lived near Manchester. Israel Harter and Jacob Karns soon moved from Ohio. Two prominent laymen who moved in and whose families were to become prominent in the church were Peter Wright 1845, and John Miller in 1853.

During the early years of the congregations, worship services were held in houses and barns, and often dinner was served in the homes where the meetings were held. Many of the early settlers spoke and understood only the language of the "Pennsylvania Dutch", a mixture of German and local brogue. Joseph Harter and Jacob Karns usually preached in Dutch; Nicholas Frantz and Israel Harter in English.

Southeast of North Manchester, there were a number of Brethren families who felt they should have a house of worship. The matter was talked over one Sunday afternoon when a number were visiting in the home of Daniel Garber, the father of Joseph, recently deceased, Samuel and Mrs. Henry Wright. Brother Jacob Heeter offered the ground and the timber. Others volunteered labor. In a short time a house was erected under the direction of John Heeter, a deacon in the church and a carpenter, the father of John, Jesse, Mahlon and Elder Gorman Heeter, all deceased but Jesse. There was no building committee, no architect's plans, no laying of a corner stone, and no church dedication when the work was completed. They built as it seemed good to them such as would meet their needs. This was in 1856. There are no records of the nature of the building, except as may be gathered from the memories of older ones who attended services there. From these descriptions from memory, Mrs. A. W. Cordier has drawn a sketch of the building, which older people say well represents the building. Mrs. Cordier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Esli Butterbaugh, attended services there for many years. Meeting was held every four weeks.

The Log Meeting House

The building stood on the southwest corner of what was the Jacob Heeter farm, now in the southwest corner of Roscoe Garber's farm, about three miles southeast of North Manchester. It stood in the corner of the woods, the church yard being open to the road running east and west but separated from the Heeter farm by a rail fence. The building was 30 by 40 feet, with the longer side parallel to the road. It was built of logs with the corners locked in the usual way of those days. On the front side was one door and two windows, one window in each end and two more on the north side. The building was about ten feet high to the roof, which was made of old fashioned clap-board shingles.

Now entering by the one door on the south side, one saw the humble interior. On either side of the one aisle in the center of the building there were long benches facing north towards the preachers' table. At each end of the room there was a stove. The stoves were much needed in a building that did not always keep out the snow. But there was plenty of fuel in the woods nearby. The women sat on the west side of the room, the men on the east. The preachers' long table was along the north side, with a bench along the wall which the preachers used for a back. On the other side of the table, facing the preachers, was a backless bench for the deacons, who were always expected to sit there during the services. On the west end of the table there was usually a bucket of water and a dipper, where mothers could come during the services and supply the want of the children, who were often provided with cookies to keep them still while the older ones were receiving the bread of life. The walls were neither papered nor plastered, but merely the log finish, with mud filling for the crevices.

Such was the primitive building that was the first house of worship used by the Manchester congregation. This continued to be used long after the large frame church was erected two miles west of town, and occasionally until the first brick house was erected in town. It is interesting to know that a number of older members still living remember services held in this old church.

The membership of the Manchester congregation was increasing rapidly about the middle of the last century, both by immigration and baptism. The preaching force of the church was not so strong but these often received help from active, forceful preachers,. such as Samuel Murray of Pipe Creek and David Neff of Roann. Most of the new members lived north and west of town. The old log house southeast of town was too much to one side and soon became too small for the growing congregation. So in 1858, a large a frame house, 40 by 80, was built at the present site of the West Manchester church. Practically all of the lumber and work was donated. Only about $500 in cash was needed to complete the work. As you approached the house, the first thing you likely saw was an old fashioned stile. This was a wooden platform about ten by twenty feet. It was just high enough for people to alight easily from the big wagon or from horseback. This church was a center of interest for many young people of those days.

The First House at West Manchester

On the north side of the house were three large entrance doors. The center door was not used so much as the other two. The men entered by the left door, the women by the right door through an enclosed porch. From the porch the women passed into a large kitchen, where in the winter they found a blazing fireplace. Here they warmed themselves and their babies before going on into the main audience room. Here was an old fashioned cradle, where many men and women in and about North Manchester today were rocked to sleep then. Many a mother felt that the usual Sunday morning preparation was a basket filled with apples, raisins, and cookies to keep the youngsters quiet.

The main audience room was much like the ordinary meeting house of that day. The seats, while better than the backless seats of the old log house, would be considered very uncomfortable today. There was the long table where the preachers sat on one side and the deacons on the other. In opening the services, the deacons were given the privilege of reading the scripture lesson. As a rule there was no arrangement who should preach beforehand. There was much preferring one another among the several preachers. Usually a number would speak at each service.

There was a large roomy upstairs in this meeting house which was a place of real interest, especially at communion meetings, for then many people would bring their bedding, make their beds on the floor and stay for the night. In fact the communion meeting was the great event of the year. To these meetings hundreds would come both members and non members. A ten o'clock service usually on Saturday, began the meeting. Dinner for all was served. Another preaching service followed in the afternoon. Many visiting ministers were usually present and a number would speak at each service. Generally somewhere near the church was a grocery stand where young people flocked during intermissions to buy delicacies, which they rarely enjoyed in those days. At night the communion service proper was observed by members only. Often rowdies would assemble outside the house and create much disturbance. The evening services often continued late. In the morning breakfast was served to all, a good breakfast it was, too. There was no Sunday School, but the forenoon service was given to talks by the "laboring brethren" as the visiting preachers were often called. Each visiting preacher was expected to say something. Some of these messages were not without effect. It was not uncommon to have a number of baptisms at the close of the communion services.

The First West Manchester Church

Many of the older members will remember the big meetings as high spots in their lives. They not only gave rich spiritual food but met a social need and hunger in a way usually most helpful. They also gave opportunity for wider acquaintance among the members, and the laity of the church became better acquainted with ministers of other congregations. J. H. Miller, Jacob Miller, Daniel Wysong, Jeremiah Gump of Northern Indiana, George W. Studebaker and John Metzger of Southern Indiana, the Garber brothers of Ohio and many others became familiarly known in the Manchester congregation.

The earlier membership of the church nearly all lived in the country. But few of our people located in the towns or cities. However members of the Church of the Brethren were prominent in the early history of North Manchester. Joseph Harter built the first grist mill. His son, Eli, built the first dwelling house in town. His daughter, Phoebe, was the first white child born in North Manchester. Abram Switzer, son-in-law of Elder Joseph Harter, and grandfather of recent county judge, the Hon. Frank Switzer, lived here for many years. In 1874 a number of other members came from Missouri: John W. Domer, Daniel and Philip Dice, Joseph and A. G. Lautzenhiser and their wives. In 1879 A. W. Bowman moved in from Spring Creek. In 1880 A. L. Wright came from Ogan's Creek and Samuel Bowman from Spring Creek. In all about twenty-five members lived in the town in 1880.

A Church is Built on Walnut Street

As the number of members in town increased, the need became more urgent for a meeting house. It was finally decided to build one. A building committee was appointed consisting of Daniel Horning, Stephen C. Ulrey and John Miller. They purchased two lots of Dr. Wilton on North Walnut street at a cost of $300. These brethren did most of the soliciting for funds, and without sufficient amount pledged, showed their faith in the work by proceeding with the building. The brick was hauled from a kiln south of Servia. The carpenter work was done by John Spurgeon and the mason work by Jacob Shock. When this building was torn down in 1907 to make way for the present house, there was every evidence of the best of material and workmanship. The building was 40 by 60 and cost $3300.

The building was dedicated in March, 1881. The dedication sermon was preached by Elder R. H. Miller, Sr., then president of Ashland College. This gave the people of North Manchester an acquaintance with him and influenced his being called one year later to be elder and pastor of the Manchester congregation.

Dedication services were then not common in the Church of the Brethren and differed but little from ordinary services. There was no drive for money. The building committee had furnished most of the funds. When Elder Miller came here in 1882, one of the first tasks was to assist John Miller to raise the balance of the funds. Some people were slow to give because they wondered whether people could be good members and live in the city.

THE FIRST WALNUT STREET CHURCH

After this house was in use the old house southeast of town was abandoned. Before long a Sunday School was organized in the new house. Before this a Sunday School had been conducted in the Miller school house northwest of town, though there was much opposition. J. C. Murray, John Miller and Emma Bowman were leaders in this pioneer Sunday School work. In 1886 a favorable decision by conference, cleared the way for regular Sunday School organization in the church.

The first series of meetings held in the town house was by Elder W. R. Deeter. Something new happened in that meeting. Brother Deeter believed in giving a public invitation to people to unite with the church. For the first time in the history of the Manchester congregation, under his preaching an invitation hymn was sung. The spirit of evangelism grew as did many other good things. Other series of meetings were held by Jeremiah Gump, John H. Miller, J. H. Moore, Silas Gilbert and others. The greatest meeting of all, so far as additions to the church are counted, was in February and March of 1894. The meeting was conducted by I. Bennett Trout, then in the prime of life. Two weeks of meetings had failed to move folks, when something unusual occurred. Twenty came out for membership. The meetings continued two more weeks until more than sixty in all came into the church. Some of the older members of the church today were among those who united with the church then.

Reference has already been made to the early ministers of the congregation: Joseph Harter, Israel Harter, Nicholas Frantz and Jacob Karns. Joseph Harter was considered the senior elder until his death, February 25, 1861. For some years before Elder Harter's death, Nicholas Frantz had been closely associated with him in the direction of the church. Elder Frantz then became presiding elder and continued until advancing age made it necessary for him to retire and Israel Harter took charge. Elder Frantz died in 1874 and Eli Harter in 1875. Jacob Karns was elder for five years until he was relieved at a special council meeting held October 13, 1880. Elder Karns went with the Old Order Brethren.

During the sixties, Elder Jacob Funderburg had moved in from Huntington and Elder George Grossnickle came from Maryland. During the seventies other ministers moved in: Elder Michael Miller from Missouri; Abraham Leedy from Andrews; John Myers and Jacob Landid from Ohio.

During most of its early history, the congregation depended for its ministry upon those who moved in from older congregations. The election of Isaac Miller in 1880 was the first call to the ministry made in nearly forty years. Most of the ministers were getting old. And yet these were years when many were added to the church in the usual way at the regular services. There were a few very active members among the laity who exerted much influence for the church. Some ministers from adjoining congregations did much preaching, especially Elder Neff of Roann. The growing congregation and difficulties arising from the division in the church made it quite apparent that stronger ministerial help was needed. Little was done by the ministers then in office but some of the laity led the church in thinking that something should be done. Among these were D. S. T. Butterbaugh, Daniel Horning, Abraham Miller and John Miller.

The Pastorate of R. H. Miller, Sr.

The church was most fortunate in securing the services of Elder R. H. Miller, Sr. The period of his service from 1882 to 1892 was one of the most prosperous in the history of the congregation, for many years he had been one of the most outstanding leaders of the church. He was born in Shelby County, Kentucky, June 7, 1825. His father, Robert Miller, was a native of Virginia. His mother was Miss Mary Blades of Kentucky. Robert H. was the second of eight children. The parents were poor but industrious. When Robert was seven, the family moved to Montgomery County, Indiana, and settled near Ladoga.

The country was new and educational advantages were few. In the old log school, Robert enjoyed a few months of school each year. If he had a day off he would rather take his books and spend a day in the woods in study than to play with other boys. For a time he attended Waveland Academy, a Presbyterian school. He prepared for teaching and taught two terms in the common schools of those days.

From a boy he took great delight in debating, and was always noted for his ability. He was timid by nature but his opponent in debate could never intimidate him. He studied law but never practiced, except in some minor cases. He took part in temperance and political campaigns. He was a ready wit and often put his opponent to a decided disadvantage in repartee.

From a boy, Robert was known for his strong and noble character. He did not indulge in the vices of his day. When nineteen he became deeply stirred in a Methodist camp meeting.

Whatever his convicitions were he did not join that church, partly because of his father, who was a strong Baptist. His marriage to a daughter of a deacon of the Church of the Brethren, brought him under the influence of the Brethren. Under the preaching of Elder Elias Caylor, he and his wife were baptized in the spring of 1858 and in the fall of the same year he was called to the ministry.

He was married to Sarah C. Harshbarger, daughter of Samuel Harshbarger, November 19, 1846. To this union were born eight children. Much sickness came to their home. Two children died when small. A son and a daughter died just as they were coming to manhood and womanhood. Robert was away from home much of the time in church work. This placed much work and responsibility on his good wife. The loss of her children and the loss of their farm broke her health and she passed away March 26, 1880. This caused him much sorrow but it caused him to move out into larger fields of service.

For twenty years he had been very busy and was becoming well known over all the church. He proved himself an able minister in his home congregation. He was soon the leading elder in his district. He spent much time in reading and study. He began to uphold the doctrine of the Brethren in public debates. In this work he was considered a master. He took part in no less than twelve public discussions, some of which were published and had wide circulations. His studies for these debates prepared him to write his book, "The Doctrine of the Brethren", which was a standard work in the church for fifty years.

Elder Miller also wrote much for the church papers of that time. There were half dozen or more such papers before the Gospel Messenger. He wrote for all of these and served on the editorial staff of more than one of them. His writings, his debates, his able work in the pulpit and in annual conference, made his name familiar throughout the brotherhood.

Shortly after his wife's death in 1880, he was tendered the presidency of Ashland College, Ohio. Though not posing as a school man, he accepted, with the hope that he might help the cause of Christian education in the Church of the Brethren. He spent most of his time among the churches in the interest of the college, leaving to school men the direction of the school work. His first year was a success for the school. The church had renewed confidence in the college. He was elected president for another year. But at that time the unfortunate division was growing in the church. The trustees of Ashland College cast their lot and influence with the Progressive Brethren and Elder R. H. Miller resigned as president. The next year he moved to North Manchester, which was to be his future home.

Elder R. H. Miller, Sr.

For ten years, 1882 to 1892, Elder R. H. Miller was the leading character and moving force in the Manchester congregation; for that matter he was one of the most outstanding personalities and leaders in the Church of the Brethren. His task in the home church was very difficult. In many congregations there was a strong minority inclined towards either the Progressive or the Old Order movement. But the Manchester congregation was rather evenly divided in sentiment between the two extremes. It seemed to many that the congregation was on the verge of an even split between the two factions. But few men could have met the situation as well as did Elder Miller. His ability as a preacher and his interest in many progressive movements such as education appealed to many who might have gone Progressive. His conservatism in many things and his loyalty to the church appealed to many who might have gone with the Old Order Brethren. While many members went with one or the other divisions, the main part of the large membership remained with the main church. Under his eldership and pastorate, the Manchester congregation became one of the largest and most influential in the brotherhood.

Before moving from Ashland, Brother Miller had married his second wife, Sister Emma Norris, of Maryland. She became the faithful companion of his labors at North Manchester. To Brother and Sister Miller were born five sons. One of them died in infancy. One is Dr. R. H. Miller, Jr., who in later years became pastor of the Manchester church where his father had served forty years before, and is now Professor of Religion and Philosophy in Manchester College. The other boys, Oliver Daniel and John, live near their old home at Ladoga. For eight years after coming to Manchester, Brother Miller lived on a farm two miles south of town. While he enjoyed farming, the work was too hard for his age and the load of church responsibility he was carrying. It was therefore arranged for him to move his family near the church two miles west of town.

Some events of much interest happened during the eldership and pastorate of Elder R. H. Miller. The first house of worship had just been built in town on the site of the present Walnut Street house. Elder Miller, while yet living at Ashland, had been called to North Manchester to preach the dedication sermon for this house in March of 1881. After he began his work here, his most difficult task was dealing with the problems of the division in the church. That he was able to handle these problems with so little loss to the church in membership was an outstanding achievement. At the same time the congregation grew in membership by baptisms, much of it the result of the strong preaching of Elder Miller.

Sunday Schools

Mention has already been made of the first Sunday School in the congregation. While very much in sympathy with the movement in favor of Sunday Schools. Elder Miller was slow to introduce Sunday Schools, until it could be done without danger of further division. It is difficult for any member of the Church of the Brethren today to understand or to have any patience with opposition to Sunday Schools, but it will be of interest to remember that the Sunday School as a means to teach the Bible is less than two hundred years old, and that even to this day the Old Order Brethren and some others do not believe in the organized Sunday School. R. H. Miller attended the Annual Meeting in 1886 when it was decided that the minority of the church should no longer prevent Sunday Schools, when the majority favored it. He returned home explained this decision to his people and urged the organization of a Sunday School. From that time on to the present, Manchester has had active Sunday Schools.

On June 9, 1887 there was held an important council meeting when the church called two men to the ministry: A. L. Wright and G. B. Heeter. Both became active in the ministry of the Manchester church. At the same time three men were chosen deacons: Emanuel Grossnickle and Joseph and Henry Ohmart.

Building a New Church at West Manchester

During the last two years of his life, Elder Miller, relieved of farm work, could give much more attention to church work. He took much interest in the building of the large brick church now known as the West Manchester church. He was a member of the building committee and did much of the soliciting of funds. His close friend, L. W. Teeter, preached the dedication sermon in August, 1891. On March 10, 1892, Elder Miller's own funeral was the first to be held in this substantial, commodious building.

Death of R. H. Miller, Sr.

In January, 1892, he went to Mount Morris, Illinois, to deliver a series of doctrinal sermons during the special Bible term at the College. While there he was stricken with pneumonia, and after a sickness of eight weeks at the home of his old friend and co-worker, President J. G. Royer, he passed to his reward on March 8, 1892. Two days later his funeral was held at the West Manchester church, with J. G. Royer and D. L. Miller officiating. It was one of the largest funerals ever held in that large church. In the beautiful little cemetery hard by the church, his body was laid to rest. Many of our people today do not realize that in that cemetery is buried one of the greatest men that the Church of the Brethren has produced.

Some time after Brother Miller's death, Sister Miller moved with her family to Ladoga, Indiana, on a farm near her brother-in-law and sister, Elder and Mrs. S. D. Stoner, who helped her very much in raising her four sons. She passed away in 1922 and is buried beside her husband at West Manchester.

Pastorate of A. L. Wright

Who should take up the work of this great leader who had been called home from his work? Most of the ministers were old. A. L. Wright and Gorman Heeter were yet young in the ministry. Isaac Miller, the oldest of the younger ministers, was soon ordained and given charge as assistant to his father-in-law, Michael Miller, who was getting quite old. Elder L. T. Holsinger, an elder of wide experience, and chairman of the Board of Trustees of Manchester College, resided here a few years. He was elder in charge from 1897 to 1899, when A. L. Wright was ordained elder and given charge of the church.

A. L. Wright had an important part in the history of the Manchester congregation. He was presiding elder for twelve years, 1899-1911; during a part of that time he served as pastor at a small salary. When a young man he had taught school for a number of years. In 1882 he became connected with the clothing business in North Manchester, first in the Lawrence Store which became the Oppenheim Clothing Store, and later in the Helm and Snorf Store, now known as Gresso Brothers. Even while engaged in business he did much acceptable preaching in the local congregation. He was frequently called to preach funerals and perform wedding ceremonies. He did faithful service as elder and pastor, serving the large congregation which then included the present Manchester and West Manchester churches. The congregation was divided just about the close of his pastorate in 1911.

A New Church at Walnut Street

Perhaps the outstanding event during his work was the building of the present Walnut Street House. The first house on Walnut street, erected in 1881, only 40 by 60 feet in size had long been much too small for the growing congregation. After 1895 the Sunday School was conducted in the Bible School Building of the College. However it was not satisfactory to have the work of the church thus divided. So in 1907 it was decided to erect a new building.

A commitee of seven was chosen to direct the erection of the building and solicit funds: John DeLauter, chairman; E. L. Lautzenhiser, secretary and treasurer; John P. Dickey, Jacob Baker, Jacob Warner, John Fouts and Samuel Haines. The building was completed during the summer and fall of 1907. The dedication sermon was preached on the first Sunday of January, 1908, by Dr. P. B. Fitzwater, then dean of the Bible School, Manchester College. This provided for a much larger and better auditorium and for many Sunday School rooms. In the years that followed, the Sunday School grew until more room was needed. In 1925 an addition was built to the east side of the church. This provided many new rooms for Sunday School, Ladies Aid, Young People's rooms and special class rooms for men and women.

Since 1895 the history of the Manchester church has been much influenced by the presence and work of Manchester College. Interest in higher education in the congregation as a whole was not great. It is doubtful whether R. H. Miller, after his experience at Ashland College, would have favored the establishment of a Brethren College at North Manchester. But many local young people were interested in higher education and many attended Mount Morris College. It is said that one fall twenty-two young people went from North Manchester to attend college at Mount Morris. In the early nineties, Elder L. T. Holsinger of Ladoga, Indiana, made a survey of the congregations of Indiana and found that there were then nearly one hundred Brethren young people attending state schools, besides those who were attending Mount Morris. This discovery caused him and others to become interested in a Brethren College in Indiana.

In 1889, Dr. D. N. Howe, president of a United Brethren College at Roanoke, Indiana, decided to move that institution to North Manchester. Many local young people attended this school but difficulties arose and after a few years President Howe resigned. His successor, C. E. Krebel, was no more successful and the college closed in the spring of 1895. The people of North Manchester were anxious that the school continue.

About this time, Prof. E. S. Young, Bible teacher of Mount Morris and son-in-law of President J. G. Royer, became anxious to establish a school whose chief interest would be the teaching of the Bible. The possibility of establishing that school at North Manchester interested him. In the winter of 1894-1895 he had held a local Bible school of two weeks at North Manchester. The attendance from the Manchester and surrounding congregations was large and that added argument for a permanent school here. The home leaders were not much interested. Other towns and congregations were wanting the school: Ladoga, Nappanee and Muncie in particular. But because of the large membership here and in nearby congregations and because the town people offered the college plant and other inducements, President Young and his associates decided in favor of North Manchester. And so Manchester College opened as a Church of the Brethren College in September, 1895.

Influence of Manchester College

This greatly added to the membership and to the ministerial force. Many families moved in. Many Brethren students came with their letters of membership. Many of the college trustees and teachers were preachers. Elder L. T. Holsinger, chairman of the Board of Trustees, and widely known as an able elder and a strong preacher, was elected elder in charge from 1897 until he moved to Pyrmont in 1899. In 1901, Prof. E. M. Crouch, who had just been elected president of the college, and two young men: D. O. Cottrell and H. A. Studebaker, were elected to the ministry.

In 1911, at the close of the twelve year pastorate of Elder A. L. Wright, the congregation was divided into two congregations, known as Manchester and West Manchester, with memberships of about 150 and 450 respectively. Otho Winger was elected elder of the West Manchester part, and S. S. Blough was elected elder of the Manchester or Walnut Street Congregation as it has been familiarly called. Prof. Blough served as elder for two years. Difficulties arose because of new departures by many from the old customs of the church. Prof. Blough resigned and for two years adjoining elders had charge. Elder J. H. Wright was elected presiding elder for four years, 1915-1919. During two years of this time Grover L. Wine was pastor. Elder T. E. George was pastor and elder in charge for two years. When he resigned in 1921, Otho Winger, president of the college, was chosen presiding elder. For the next year the home ministry did the preaching. But during that year more than forty persons were received by baptism and many more by letter. In 1922, R. H. Miller, Jr., son of the able leader who had been elder and pastor forty years before, was chosen pastor. He served until 1929 when he was succeeded by H. L. Hartsough, who has served twelve years in very successful work. Otho Winger resigned as elder in 1927 when he and Mrs. Winger started on their trip around the world. J. Edson Ulery served as elder for two years, after which Edward Kintner was elected and has served since. Thus it will be seen that during the last thirty years there has been a close relationship between the church and the college especially in officials and leaders. A list of those serving as elders and pastors does not tell all of this relationship, for many college men and women have served as Sunday School officers, young peoples leaders, delegates to District and Annual Meetings, etc.

Annual Conference at North Manchester

The Manchester Congregation has had the Annual Meeting held four times within her boundaries. The first was in 1878, at the large frame meeting house, two miles west of town. At that time the local congregation took care of most of the arrangements. A large wooden tabernacle, 220 by 80, was erected just south of the church on land now a part of the cemetery at the West Manchester church. One half of this was used for a dining hall and the other half for an auditorium. All reports say that the crowd was the largest that ever attended an Annual Meeting up to that time. On Saturday, fifty six coaches of delegates and others arrived at North Manchester. It was estimated that there were 1500 teams in the neighborhood. The officers of the meeting were: Enoch Eby, Moderator, R. H. Miller, Reader, and James Quinter, Writing Clerk. The ablest ministers of the church preached not only in the tabernacle but in the churches in North Manchester. One sermon that attracted much attention was by Sister Sarah Major of Southern Ohio. She was the first woman preacher in the Church of the Brethren. Before the conference proper began there was an important missionary meeting held in the Ogans Creek Church, southeast of North Manchester.

The second Annual Meeting at North Manchester was held in 1888, within the town limits, in the west part of what was known as the Harter Grove. The committee of arrangements was composed of local men: Daniel Horning, foreman, A. L. Wright, secretary, Abraham Miller, treasurer, Stephen C. Ulrey, John Miller and Emanuel Grossnickle. All reports indicate that this committee did its work well. They were in close touch with the elder and pastor of the church at that time, Elder R. H. Miller, Sr.

Two large tents were provided for lunch rooms, dining room and baggage. The main auditorium was a large canvas tent 100 by 140. It would seat about 5,000 people. While at times the attendance was not large, yet the crowd on Sunday was estimated to be 15,000.

The meeting opened on Friday evening, May 18 and continued for one week. Most of the program from Friday evening until Tuesday morning consisted of sermons by representative men of the church. Among the aged leaders of the church were John P. Ebersole of Ohio, Samuel Murray and Hiel Hamilton of Indiana, John Metzger and D. B. Sturgis of Illinois, and James Quinter of Pennsylvania. Some well known men of the church were then in middle age prime of life: J. G. Royer, the successful president of Mount Morris College; D. L. Miller, widely known for his trip abroad and as editor of the Gospel Messenger; Daniel Vaniman, chairman of the General Mission Board; M. M. Eshelman, a writer and editor. Perhaps none was more influential in the councils of the church than Elder R. H. Miller who was honored and respected by the entire church.

A Missionary Meeting was held at which an offering of $214.30 was raised for missions! Manchester College was not yet organized. McPherson College which had just been organized was represented by some very enthusiastic supporters. There was a McPherson tent on the ground.

This meeting will ever be remembered as the time and place where Elder James Quinter closed his earthly career. It was known and expected that he would be there. He was to preach in the tabernacle on Sunday morning. Hundreds of people went to the meeting with the desire to hear him. He arrived on the ground about noon on Saturday. He was located for lodging at the home of Brother and Sister A. L. Wright. He called on Brother D. L. Miller at the Messenger office and then went to listen to a sermon preached by Elder Daniel Vaniman. Brother Quinter was called upon to close the meeting. He read hymn 810 in the old hymnal. After the hymn was sung he gave a few fitting remarks and called to prayer. As he neared the close of his prayer he said, "We thank thee O God, for permitting us to meet again as we have met." Then his voice faltered and stopped. Elder Vaniman closed the prayer. Elder D. B. Sturgis, a physician was right by his side. He and Elder D. E. Price gently laid him on the table. A few gasps and this great man of God had gone home to his Lord. Elder J. H. Wright was very close to him as he died. The large congregation was in tears when they realized that their brother had departed. But it was a fitting close to a great life. Brother Quinter had shortly before said to his co-worker, Elder John Wise, that he hoped he might depart while in the midst of his brethren. After a few appropriate remarks by Elder Enoch Eby, the remains were prepared for the homeward journey, accompanied by Elders H. B. and J. B. Brumbaugh. The next morning at the time Elder Quinter was to have preached, memorial services were held, led by Enoch Eby and John Wise. This event cast a gloom over the rest of the meeting.

The business session opened on Tuesday morning with the following officers: Enoch Eby, Moderator; D. N. Workman, Reader; J. G. Royer, Writing Clerk. The business session lasted three days and a half, until Friday noon. The meeting was pleasant though somewhat tedious. The conference was beginning to discuss seriously the problems of missions, education and the publishing interests.

For the third time the Annual Conference was held at North Manchester in 1900. Though the little city was not considered large enough, yet the large membership was considered in caring for the people. A special district meeting of Middle Indiana selected the following as a committee to locate the meeting and make arrangements: D. P. Shively, W. S. Toney, Frank Fisher, S. S. Ulrey and Dorsey Hodgden. The meeting was held in the east part of Harter's Grove, on what is now Seventh street, just west of the railroad. Trains could unload the people right at the grounds. The attendance was large. The little city and the country people were taxed to the limit to care for the large crowds. The officers of the meeting were D. L. Miller, Moderator; L. W. Teeter, Reader and Daniel Hays, Writing Clerk. One of the outstanding speakers of the meeting was Dr. M. G. Brumbaugh, who had been appointed by President William McKinley as commissioner of education to Porto Rico. He had aroused much interest in the church by his book on History of the church of the Brethren.

The experience in caring for the conference of 1900 made the members slow to invite another conference. But in 1929 conditions were such that many felt that North Manchester was the place to hold it. The Manchester congregation had but little to do with this for arrangements and work were largely carried on by Manchester College and an Annual Meeting Committee. The college buildings were all used to good effect. A large dining hall erected on the tennis courts and a large tabernacle to the north of it took good care of the people. Loud speakers placed in the buildings and over the grounds, enabled the people to hear well.

Manchester and the Church at Large

Perhaps one thing more should be noted. The Manchester church has contributed much and has had much influence on the work of the church as a whole. While elder of the church, R. H. Miller, Sr. was one or the most active and best known men in the church. In 1900, Adam and Alice Ebey were sent as missionaries to India where they served for 31 years. Alice King Ebey was raised in the Manchester church. Her husband of the Wawaka congregation, Northern Indiana, was a member of the Manchester church for a number of years while attending college. In 1913 Dr. A. Raymond Cottrell of North Manchester and his wife, Dr. Laura Cottrell of Greenville, Ohio, were sent as medical missionaries to India, where they have since served. Lillian Grisso of this congregation has served as missionary to India since 1917. Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Moomaw have been missionaries in India since 1923. Brother Moomaw is from Canton, Ohio. Mrs. Moomaw was Mabel Winger and was a member of the Manchester congregation at the time of her appointment.

In 1940, Brother Rolland and Sister Josephine Keever Flory were sent as missionaries to China. The latter was a member of the Manchester congregation and Rolland had been here as a student in college. The Manchester congregation has assumed the full support of Josephine in her missionary work. When last heard from they were in the Philippines, but in April, 1942, no word has been received from them since the outbreak of the war.

This congregation has also been the home of many retired missionaries because of the good church and school privileges here. Because of the interest in these many missionaries the Manchester church has given good support to the missionary cause.

In recent years this church has been well represented by her members on the general boards of the church. Otho Winger has served twenty-nine years on the General Mission Board of the church. He has also served six times as moderator of the Annual Meeting. H. L. Hartsough has served ten years on the General Ministerial Board of the church, most of the time as its president. L. W. Shultz has served many years on the General Board of Christian Education. A. W. Cordier was active in the organization of the Brethren Service Committee and serves as its chairman. The latter is widely known in Indiana and throughout the middle west for his lectures and his European and South American travels.

The Hartsoughs' Ministry to Boys in Camp

At the request of the Brethren Service Committee, the Manchester church loaned the Committee their pastor, H. L. Hartsough, to visit the boys from the various Brethren groups who are in the army camps throughout the country. The pastor and his wife entered upon this important ministry in January, 1942, to continue until September of the same year. The church organized for carrying on pastoral work by members of the congregation and for supplying the pulpit by the home ministers.

Growth of Adjoining Congregations

Six separate congregations now occupy the territory of the original Eel River Church. The first division of territory occurred in 1852 when the Manchester congregation was organized. In 1870 the Eel River congregation was again divided by the organization of the Spring Creek church. The following year a house was built by the latter two miles east and half a mile north of Sidney. A few years later this house was enlarged by the addition of two Sunday School rooms. This building burned in February, 1917, and was replaced with the present beautiful and commodious brick house. A score of able ministers have served in this congregation and the church has called to the ministry a number of men who have been active and useful in this and other congregations. The present membership is not far under 200. Moyne Landis has served efficiently as pastor for a number of years.

The next division of territory was that between Manchester and West Manchester in 1911 as already noted. The West Manchester church has continued as a thriving congregation. Its present membership is 162. Among the ministers who have served here in more recent years are C. F. Eiler, I. B. Book, A. R. Bridge, S. L. Young, A. M. Stine, Bertha Neher Stine, Ira Kreider, and Lester Young. Theron G. Weaver has been pastor since 1939. The brick house erected in 1891, surrounded by spacious lawns and with the Pleasant Hill cemetery adjoining, is still one of the rural beauty spots of the region. A few years ago the Ladies Aid of the church acquired the Acme school house near by, which they use for dinners and entertainments as well as for their work room.

During all this time the original Eel River congregation had been growing. Two other houses of worship had been built, one three and one-half miles west and the other about the same distance to the east. In 1913 each of these was organized as a separate congregation. The one to the west was called West Eel River and the one to the east Plunge Creek Chapel.

The West Eel River church has a good house of worship and a present membership around seventy-five. They have no resident minister. Hugh Miller served as pastor for a number of years. Ira Kreider is their present pastor and elder.

Upon their organization as a separate congregation in 1913 the Plunge Creek church remodeled and enlarged their church house. This building burned in 1928 and the congregation soon afterward purchased the Methodist church in Liberty Mills. It is now known as the Liberty Mills congregation and has a wide-awake membership of more than 250. Roger Shively is now serving this church as pastor and T. G. Weaver as elder.

The organization of the West Eel River and Plunge Creek churches in 1913 left the mother congregation with a strip of territory only three miles wide and a membership of about 100. Although not the largest of the group of churches, the Eel River church is doing excellent work. The membership is 175, with a fine body of young people and a good brick church house attractively located on a hillside amid a setting of natural forest trees. The roster of ministers who have served this congregation is an imposing one. An outstanding name among them is that of Elder Gabriel Ulrey who served in almost every conceivable capacity in the church. He and Emanuel Leckrone were leaders in the Sunday School movement at a time when many members were withdrawing to the Old Order Brethren. In recent years George Deaton has given the congregation wise and inspiring leadership as pastor and elder.

President Otho Winger

AN APPRECIATION

The material in this booklet was prepared by Otho Winger, much of it on time that he needed for rest and recuperation. With his ability as a historian and his interesting style, the committee feels that no one else could have done the work quite so well. The labor of writing and the research involved will not be evident to the average reader, but we believe the appreciation will be keen.

The authorship of the story explains its failure to give due recognition to the great influence of Otho Winger upon the church during the thirty years of his presidency of Manchester College. This lack the committee will not attempt to correct other than to note it and make this explanation.

WORDS OF APPRECIATION

To those who have planned and guided in the construction—
To the workmen who have labored many months toward completion—
To all those who have spent many hours on committees—
To all those who have given time and labor and have given of their means—
To Manchester College, and President V. F. Schwalm for being host to the congregation during the sixteen months of remodeling—

HISTORICAL FACTS

The first church house on Walnut street was erected in 1881. It was a brick house 40 by 60 feet, costing $3300. Members of the Building Committee were: Daniel Horning, Stephen C. Ulrey, and John Miller. The Dedicatory sermon was preached by Elder R. H. Miller Sr.

In 1907, the congregation having outgrown its quarters a new church was erected on the same site replacing the old one. A Committee of seven was chosen to direct the work and solicit funds: John Delauter, chairman, E. L. Lautzenhiser, John P. Dickey, Jacob Baker, Jacob Warner, John Fouts, and Samuel Haines. The Dedicatory sermon was preached by Dr. P. B. Fitzwater, then Dean of the Bible Department of the College, on the first Sunday of January, 1908.

Sorely lacking facilities for the growing Sunday School an Educational Unit was built to the East side of the church in 1925.

As the church grew it had become constantly necessary to use the entire auditorium including the adjacent Sunday School section, thus making a somewhat unsatisfactory worship setting. A rapidly growing Children's Department necessitated additional room. As a consequence, for several years there has been concern about rebuilding. A Building Fund was set up into which some amounts were paid each year until approximately $30,000 were in hand.

A Building Committee, whose names appear elsewhere, was chosen. An architect was employed and plans submitted. A number of meetings were held with all who wished to attend and make suggestions for the remodeling. Finally the architects' plans were adopted, the Committee instructed to procede and the Finance Committee designated to raise the necessary funds.

The corner stone for the present building was laid on Sunday afternoon, September 24, 1950, with the Elder and Pastor officiating. Difficulties in securing materials and the severe winter greatly delayed the completion of the building. Pews and furniture were secured from the Endicott Church Seating Co. Extra donations from individuals made possible the entire covering of carpet.

ELDER R. H. MILLER.

Bro. Robert H. Miller, who was born in Shelby County, Kentucky, June 7, 1825, was a very remarkable man, considering his educational opportunities. His parents were in moderate circumstances, and when their son Robert was eleven years old they moved to Montgomery County, Indiana. Robert became a very diligent and apt student and in due time secured sufficient education to teach school. While teaching, he studied law and became quite skilled at the bar. He also grew into prominence as a political speaker, and during political campaigns was in considerable demand.

R. H. Miller.

At the age of twenty-five he married Sister Sarah Harshbarger, a very intelligent and devout woman, who was the means of leading him to the church. His conversion was thorough. He immediately closed his law practice and ceased delivering political addresses. Shortly after uniting with the church, he was called to the ministry, and inside of a few years reached the eldership. He preached well from the start, and soon became one of the most noted preachers in his part of the State.

He entered upon the study of the Scriptures with rare zeal and intelligence, making the doctrine of the church a specialty. His strong doctrinal sermons brought him into prominence and led to his engaging in a number of debates, probably a dozen in all. He was at his best in a public discussion and probably never met his equal as a cool, careful and logical disputant. When in his prime he was doubtless the ablest defender of the doctrine of the Church of the Brethren ever known among us. He knew how to present an argument and make it stand for all there was in it.

As a debater he had some unique experiences. About 1873 the Brethren secured his services for a discussion in a town some distance from the railroad. His reputation as an able preacher and a fine debater had gone before him, so on the day for his arrival at the railroad station, where one of the brethren was to meet him and convey him to the place of discussion, a number of boys from the town made it a point to be at the depot in time to get a first glimpse of the famous preacher. Bro. Miller was naturally a fine-looking man. When he alighted from the train, and was greeted by the brother, who came to meet him, the boys scrutinized him with intense interest. In all their experiences they had never seen such a fine and intelligent looking man.

A large trunk was unloaded from the train and taken possession of by Bro. Miller and the brother who had met him. This trunk put the boys to surmising, and they soon decided that it was full of books. So, without waiting for further developments, they mounted their horses, and returned to their town in all

OBITUARIES

REV. A. L. WRIGHT 1927

Albert L. Wright, son of Peter and Catherine Wright, was born August 3, 1854, on a farm one mile south of Servia. He spent his boyhood days on the farm and later fitted himself for teaching in which profession he spent six years. He joined the Church of the Brethren May 23, 1874 and was baptized by Elder George Cripe. On March 23, 1879 he was united in marriage with Catherine Baker by Rev. W. D. Samuels now living in this city. About two years after their marriage they moved to North Manchester where he entered the employ of George Lawrnce one of the pioneer merchants of this city. Later he worked in the Helm and Snorf store, Gresso Store and in the Oppenheim Store. For almost forty years he served the public in a business way.

All through his life he had deep religious convictions and his secular affairs were always brought in harmony with his interests for the kingdom of God. The Church of the Brethren called him to the ministry on June 9th, 1887. He was advanced to the second degree of the ministry, November 8, 1889 and ordained to the eldership May 27, 1897. On March 23, 1899 he was elected elder of the Manchester congregation and served in that capacity nearly thirteen years. For a number of years he was [illegible] time pastor, but much of his service was given freely and without pay.

He not only served the church locally but was active in the work of the district of Middle Indiana and of the brotherhood. He frequently acted as officer of district meetings, having served as moderator, reading clerk and writing clerk. Twice he represented his district on the standing committee. Many times has he served as delegate to both district and annual meetings and in the recent council he was chosen delegate to the coming conference at Hershey, Pennsylvania. For many years he was a member of the mission board of Middle Indiana.

Some statistics indicate the esteem with which he was held by his home people. There are records that he has baptized 264 people, and has performed the ceremony at 216 marriages. Up to 1913 he had preached 242 funerals, and many since that time. He has spoken words of comfort, hope and consolation to thousands of sorrowing human hearts. Few men in any community have had such an intimate relationship to so many people as had Brother Wright. For forty-five years Brother and Sister Wright lived on the corner of Mill and Fourth streets. For a number of years their only son, Dr. G. E. Wright, lived near them. On January 11, 1927, his faithful wife passed on to claim the great reward. Since then he has made his home with his son. He has been in failing health for some time. He passed away in the early morning April 25, aged 72 years, 8

LUCINDA WRIGHT

Lucinda Ann Shock was the daughter of David and Catherine Shock, and was born in Montgomery County, Ohio, Nov. 8, 1852. She was the second child in a family of nine children, six sisters and three brothers, of whom two brothers and two sisters survive. When she was but fifteen years old her parents moved to Indiana, locating in Wabash County. Soon after locating here she entered the home of Daniel Garber where she remained as helper for more than five years. It was while in this home that she accepted her Savior in the old log church near by.

She was married Oct. 17, 1875, to John H. Wright, who was then a young minister in the Church of the Brethren. This marriage ceremony was unique for its day. While George Cripe of Cerro Gordo, Ill., was holding a revival meeting in the Leslie schoolhouse, and while concluding his remarks, this young couple by previous arrangement, came forward and were married. The young couple then left the room and Bro. Cripe concluded the service.

Three daughters were born to them. The youngest died in infancy. Mary Etta, who married T. D. Butterbaugh, is the only surviving daughter. Della May met a tragic death on Sept. 12, 1902.

For a number of years Brother and Sister Wright lived on a farm near Ogans Creek. It was while here that Sister Wright experienced the duties of companionship of one who was a farmer, preacher and evangelist. Leaving the farm they moved to North Manchester. Brother and Sister Wright served the churches of Huntington and Rossville as

1909-1911

Elder John H. Wright was the elder of this church 1915-1919. He and his brother Albert L Wright were long the prominent ministers and leaders of this congregation. His daughter, Mrs. T.D. (Etta) Butterbaugh has helped much with data herein. She furnished the picture of the SEVEN OLD FRIENDS.

The Historical Function of Local Church Librarians

by

Gladdys E. Muir

for the Historical Committee
Church of the Brethren

Material Which Should Be Collected in the Archives of the Local Church

1. Minutes of the local church. Records of baptisms, ordinations, marriages, deaths, letters granted and received, list of pastors and terms served.
2. Minutes of important organizations connected with the local church, such as trustees, church school, women's work, men's work, etc.
3. Diaries of ministers, pioneers, or other individuals within the church.
4. Sunday morning bulletins, weekly, monthly, or quarterly newsletters, pastoral letters, etc.
5. Press notices in the local newspapers of church events or accomplishments of members of church.
6. Copies of deeds to church property.
7. Minutes of the district organization.
8. Annual Conference Minutes.
9. Files of church publications: The Gospel Messenger, The Brethren Bible Study Monthly, Horizons, Journeys, Tell Me, and Yearbooks; also periodicals discontinued, such as Brethren at Work, Inglenook, Gospel Visitor, Missionary Visitor, etc.
10. Papers written for important occasions such as the dedication of the church and anniversaries of organizations.
11. Photographs taken on such memorable occasions as well as copies of photographs of individual pioneers.
12. Antiques connected with history of church.

me by eyewitnesses of the events iscussed. The minute books of the ongregation belong in such a cate- ory. Some churches systematically cord baptisms, marriages, deaths, dinations of ministers and deacons, c.

Often such records have been neg- cted, in which case, the librarian ight essay the task of a chronicler d begin such lists, also attempting collect out of the past what data yet available from personal records pt by the present members in fam- Bibles, diaries, scrapbooks, etc. metimes, among the older minis- rs or members there are individ- ls who have kept diaries for a mber of years. These are invalu- le in helping to reconstruct the tory of a church. Ofttimes mem- rs of the immediate family do not preciate the importance of such ecord. Perhaps the church librar- can suggest that the church be de the custodian of such an im- tant document.

Family letters and photographs of rch pioneers, newspaper clippings d other personal data belonging to se leaders may prove to be very uable to the church and can often secured if the church librarian ows of their existence and is on d to prevent their untimely de- uction after the decease of the neer. All such records should be t in some fireproof depository, a e, or perhaps the lockbox at the al bank where the church keeps deeds to property and other fi- cial records.

While not as valuable as records le at the time, memoirs obtained ough interviews with the older nbers of the congregation may d anecdotes, colorful personal riptions, and other material of rest that will help a church his- an to feel the atmosphere of the early days, and to learn of incidents that throw light on more important recorded data. Some of the older members of the church may have files of church publications, such as Gospel Messengers, Yearbooks, and older periodicals no longer published by the church which they would be willing to place in the church library.

While the church librarian is making every effort to conserve the materials of the past, she will also be keeping up to date the files of current materials: the present publications of the church, the Sunday bulletins, newsletters, financial reports, etc.

There is scarcely a congregation which does not have in it some member with a literary gift to whom the church turns when a special occasion arises for an historical monograph or report to the press, or when some literary production is needed. Certainly, any such writing should be preserved. In one of our colleges the librarian attempts to procure for the Brethren archives all publications written by a Brethren author. A library of this sort is bound to create interest in the unique contributions of the Brethren. A local church could also do this. However, there is no reason for a church to stop at this point; the librarian should keep in mind that a library can direct attention as well to the ecumenical movement and help to build an intelligent membership, better informed on the major trends in Christian thinking. Both types of services are needed.

Where is this librarian to be found? Though her price may be beyond rubies, the chances are that there is someone with a flair for history who, with proper encouragement, could grow into this job in your local church. It is your task to find her.

The Historical Function of Local Church Librarians

THE librarian of the local church fills an important office; probably, next to the pastor, she has the greatest opportunity to further the spiritual growth of the individual church member. If she knows her job, through her personal knowledge of religious literature, the religious classics of the past which have inspired many generations of Christians as well as the current books which are constantly coming from the press, she should be able to introduce the adult Christian to some of the great literature which will feed his soul and strengthen him for his daily tasks. She can enlarge his knowledge of the history of the church, not only of his own but of the church universal.

The librarian can direct the aspiring youth of the church to the biographies of great men and women —such as St. Francis, Martin Luther, Erasmus, George Fox, John Wesley, and David Livingstone—which will appeal to their natural impulse for hero worship; she can place in their hands books which will help to illumine and clarify their thinking on some of the great Christian ideals, ideals of love and service, peace and goodwill, and the simple life.

She will know where to find for little children some of the fascinating books which lead them in the most natural way to an understanding of the elementary truths of the Christian religion.

The church librarian will watch for books to help the pastor and teachers in the church school increase their skills in teaching, counseling, and the various ministries afforded by the church. All this is possible on two conditions: First, that the librarian herself is a lover of religious literature and knows how to interest others in reading and, second, that the congregation sees the significance of her job and is ready to appropriate funds sufficient for her to build a useful, well-balanced library.

Conserver of Records

In addition to this function, which is the one of which we usually think when the office of the church librarian is mentioned, there is another function that is also important and the one with which this guide is mainly concerned. This is the librarian's function as keeper and conserver of the records of the church, the raw materials of history we might call them.

A few churches have a church historian (often appointed when an anniversary is looming in the foreground). More often this historian is concerned with the writing of history rather than the preservation of historical sources. His job may make him cognizant of the latter, but usually, if that job is to be done at all, consistently and through the years, it will have to be done by the librarian of the local church.

The church librarian realizes, as many of the members of the congregation do not, that history is in the making all the time and that what happens in the local church may be significant not only to the local community but as a part of a much larger story, the growth and development of the denomination of which it is a part. For this reason it is important that all historical source material be carefully conserved, particularly primary source material. This means material written at the

His job may make him cognizant of the latter, but usually, if that job is to be done at all, consistently and through the years, it will have to be done by the librarian of the local church.

The church librarian realizes, as many of the members of the congregation do not, that history is in the making all the time and that what happens in the local church may be significant not only to the local community but as a part of a much larger story, the growth and development of the denomination of which it is a part. For this reason it is important that all historical source material be carefully conserved, particularly primary source material. This means material written at the time by eyewitnesses of the events discussed. The minute books of the congregation belong in such a category. Some churches systematically record baptisms, marriages, deaths, ordinations of ministers and deacons, etc.

Often such records have been neglected, in which case, the librarian might essay the task of a chronicler and begin such lists, also attempting to collect out of the past what data is yet available from personal records kept by the present members in family Bibles, diaries, scrapbooks, etc. Sometimes, among the older ministers or members there are individuals who have kept diaries for a number of years. These are invaluable in helping to reconstruct the history of a church. Ofttimes members of the immediate family do not appreciate the importance of such a record. Perhaps the church librarian can suggest that the church be made the custodian of such an important document.

Family letters and photographs of church pioneers, newspaper clippings and other personal data belonging to these leaders may prove to be very valuable to the church and can often be secured if the church librarian knows of their existence and is on hand to prevent their untimely destruction after the decease of the pioneer. All such records should be kept in some fireproof depository, a safe, or perhaps the lockbox at the local bank where the church keeps its deeds to property and other financial records.

While not as valuable as records made at the time, memoirs obtained through interviews with the older members of the congregation may yield anecdotes, colorful personal descriptions, and other material of interest that will help a church historian to feel the atmosphere of the early days, and to learn of incidents that throw light on more important recorded data. Some of the older members of the church may have files of church publications, such as Gospel Messengers, Yearbooks, and older periodicals no longer published by the church which they would be willing to place in the church library.

While the church librarian is making every effort to conserve the materials of the past, she will also be keeping up to date the files of current materials: the present publications of the church, the Sunday bulletins, newsletters, financial reports, etc.

There is scarcely a congregation which does not have in it some member with a literary gift to whom the church turns when a special occasion arises for an historical monograph or report to the press, or when some literary production is needed. Certainly, any such writing should be preserved. In one of our colleges the librarian attempts to procure for the Brethren archives all publications written by a Brethren author. A library of this sort is bound to create interest in the unique contributions of the Brethren. A local church could also do this. However, there is no reason for a church to stop at this point; the librarian should keep in mind that a library can direct attention as well to the ecumenical movement and help to build an intelligent membership, better informed on the major trends in Christian thinking. Both types of services are needed.

Where is this librarian to be found? Though her price may be beyond rubies, the chances are that there is someone with a flair for history who, with proper encouragement, could grow into this job in your local church. It is your task to find her.

GENERAL BROTHERHOOD BOARD — CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN
Elgin, Illinois

2M 6-57

REPORT - February 9, 1959

Membership andRecords Committee
To the Church Board of the Manchester Church of the Brethren
North Manchester, Indiana.

* Preamble *

Otho Winger used to say- "The Brethren are too busy making History to write a record."

Ofttimes we are too busy to carry on a program of collecting, arranging and preserving the records that are made. (Ed. L.W.Shultz)

Revie Slaubaugh. manager of the books sales at our Elgin House says that in these days of VISUAL EDUCATION the Brethren do not read--period..

Well, the record is not quite that poor as lamentable as it sounds. But it is true that the Brethren do not keep records or write history as well as the Mennonites, the Schwenkfelders or many others as the Lutherans, Reformed, or Mormon groups. It would be profitable for you to visit the Mennonite Historical Library at Goshen College, Goshen Indiana and the Schwenkfelder Library at Pennsburg, Pa.

- Progress to Date -

Our report to the Church on Sunday morning October 5, 1958, included a statement of the functions of the committee and an appeal for help in locating some records and historical matter. The response has been encouraging.

Church Bulletins for two years- 1956-57 and 1957-58, have been secured and bound.

Walnut Street Messengers published in 1922-1928 and edited by R.H.Miller and Otho Winger are very valuable material- a wealth of biography, lists of births, marriages, and baptisms, etc. We lack Vol.3 no.3; Vol.4 no.3; Vol.5 no.1 and all of Vol. 6.

Gospel Messengers and Church School Papers. Through Sister Grace Moss of Milford, Ind., we have secured the Gospel Messengers 1949-1958; Our Boys and Girls, 1941-1948; Journeys,1949-1958; Our Young People 1941-1948; Horizons 1949-1958. All of these have been bound by Brother Ray Hillsamer and are now in the church office.He has done this out of his generosity and offers to do more in the binding of church records.

Bound Missionary Visitors, 16 volumes, have been contributed by Brother H.P. Garner and wife.

Minutes of the Church Councils. On February 3, 1959. from the attic of the home of Mrs. Glen Wright on Mill St., three books were secured of the minutes of the church councils, from 1887-1909, This completed the minutes from 1887 to the founding of this church as a separate congregation This was a real find. We should thank the Wright family for caring for these books and presenting them to the church. They will be bound as separate volumes of minutes. In addition the minutes since the organization of the church will be bound as follows:- 1911-1925; 1926-1947; 1947-1957. This is done because of the sizes of the paper used to make the minutes.

The Church Directory for 1959 was ready shortly after the first of the year. It shows 737 resident members and 192 non-resident members. The new 1959 Church Yearbook reports 1123 members. Some corrections have been made. Your help is solicited.

A Visible Record File and stand has been ordered by your authorization for the use of the church office staff. This will make for efficiency and is much appreciated. The cost of the equipment will be $315 of which $185 has been paid so far by three individuals and two classes. Your help here is further solicited since this expense is not in the bduget.

PERMANENT RECORDS OF MEMBERSHIP are now being made and will be kept up to date as the membership changes. Two books are being prepared:-

1 An Alphabetical Listing of the members as of January 1, 1959- and kept posted regularly with the changes and events occurring. This will be a listing of Baptisms, Marriages,Deaths etc, as well as data about each person on a separate two page line. This will be valuable in the years ahead.

2. A Listing Alphabetical of the Membership 1911-1998 inclusive, excepting those who are members 1959-

- Recommendations to the Church Board -

1. That the secretary of the board be instructed to send letters of thanks to the following;-
    1. To Sister Grace Noss, Milford, Indiana for her donation of the Gpspel Messengers and Church School Papers.
    2. To Ray Hillsamer for his contribution of the binding of 37 volumes so far, for use in our church office.
    3. To William Crumley for the binding of the Church Bulletins.
    4. To the Glen Wright family for their care of, and presentation of the church minutes 1887-1909.
    5. To H.P.Garner and wife for the bound Missionary Visitors, 1914-1930.

2. That a careful membership journal be kept showing dates of membership accessions, by baptisms. Letters and corrections of list; and of membership removals by death, lettersof transfer, or dismissal. This data will then be posted to permanent records but will give a daily membership record.

3. That we start our membershp roll as of January 1, 1959, from the directory issued then and add to it, and correct it as we go on from there. (As of today the record would have on it 737 resident members, minus two because of incorrect placing, minus one name removed by death and six additions by corrections because of omissions. Numbers as of today 750 resident m.

* A Statement of Our Further Assignment *

L. To define a member in good standing.

2. To name procedures to be taken to clear the roll of any names that should be dropped.

3. To discover the best way to receive and grant letters of membership; receive members and to introduce and induct members who come into the fellowship by letter.

Report written by L.W.SHultz.

2. Alphabetical list of Members (1911-1958)
(This listing will not include names of present membership.)
3. A permanent record book containing these names and historical data of our church.

C. Also in Process.
1. A second record book of present and future membership, including names, dates of baptism, marriages,deaths, the receiving and granting of letters, and other important historical data.
2. A Visible Record File and stand have been authorized for the use of the church office staff. This will make for efficiency and is much appreciated. The cost for this equipment will be $315, of which $200 has been paid so far by four individuals and three classes. Your help here is further solicited since this is not in the budget.
3. A Membership Journal. This will show dates of membership accessions by baptisms, letters, and corrections of the list; And of membership removals by death. letters of transfer, or dismissal. Later this data will be posted to the permanent records but will give a daily record of membership number; Resident and non-resident.
4. Correction of our current membership list as of date. The directory for 1959 shows 737 resident and 192 non-resident members. Your help is sought to make corrections.
5. Devising the best possible plans for receiving and granting letters and recording same.

D Recommendations to the Council.
1. That the secretary of the Council be instructed to send letters of thanks to the following:-
1. To Sister Grace Noss, Milford, Indiana, for her donation of the Gospel Messengers and Church School,Papers.
2. To Ray Hillsamer for his contribution of the binding of 37 volumes so far for use in our church office.
3. To William Crumley for the binding of the Church Bulletins.
4. To the Dr. Glen Wright family for their care of, and presentation of the church minutes 1887-1909.
5. To H.P.Garner and wife for contributing bound Missionary Visitors 1914-1930.

Reported for the committee by L.W.Shultz.

The HISTORICAL RECORDS COMMITTEE REPORTS

The Historical Records Committee made a most interesting report at Council Meeting on October 11, 1959. It was suggested by some persons present at Council that this report be made available to the entire church through the "Growing Edge". We are indeed fortunate to have such an active committee. They are doing a most valuable piece of work. (News-Letter- "The Growing Edge" Vol. 2 No 8. October,1959.)

Data in Report.

On January 1, 1959 there were reported in the new directory:-

	737 Resident Members	in 388 Families
	192 Non-Resident Members	in 186 Families,
Total	929 Members	555 "

Of the 388 families the breakdown into ten categories resulted as follows:-

1. Families with both parents members and one or more children members	74
2. Families with both parents members with children not members	50
3. Married couples both members no children at home	93
4. Families with one parent a member and one or more children members	8

Committee - Edward Kintner, John L. Searer,
Mrs Gertrude Hamer, Mrs Ruth Holl, Sec.
L.W.Shultz, Chairman.

(The Committee solicits help in securing data about the membership of this church congregation who were members during the period 1911-1958 and who are not members now.)

SOME NOTES of INTEREST
Gleaned from Church Minutes, History, andthe News Journal.

On January 4, 1937 North Manchester was 100 years old.

In 1836 Hoseph Harter came from Montgomery County, Ohio. His son, Eli Harter, built the second house in North Manchester. To Eli Harter and wife was born the first white child in North Manchester, She was Phoebe Harter the mother of Esli Butterbaugh and the grandmother of Dorothy Butterbaugh Cordier.

The early families in the community were those of Joseph Harter, Eli Harter, Daniel Swank, Isaac Ulrey. David Ulrey, Jacob Cripe, Jacob Swihart and Jacob Metzger.

The Eel River Congregation of the Brethren was organized In 1838 with Joseph Harter as its minister. This congregation comprised much of the north part of Wabash County and the southern part of Kisciusko County. Indiana.

In 1852 the southern part of the Eel River church in Wabash County was organized separately as the Manchester Church. Its early ministers were Nicholas Frantz, Israel Harter, Jacob Karns, Jacob Funderburg and George Grossnickle.

The church houses of this congragation were as follows:-
1856 A log meetinghouse southest of North Manchester.
1858 A frame house built at the site of the West Manchester Church. Labor and lumber donated- actual cost $500.
1881 A brick house built on Walnut Street, in town.
1891 The west house was replaced by a brick structure.
1907-1908 the town house was replaced by a second and larger building.
1925 A new addition added Sunday School rooms to the east.
1951 the church was remodeled.

On August 1, 1911 it was decided to divide the church district into two congregations- one about the west house and one about the church in town. Two weeks later meetings were held to organize each congregation.

For some time the town church was known as the Walnut Street Church of the Brethren. On June 2, 1950 it was decided to be known as the Manchester Church of the Brethren. (Its main entrance is now on Sixth Street.)

John Martin Winger was forced to enroll as the 300th student in the fall enrollment of Manchester College by his son Otho Winger, president of the college. This was the largest enrollment to that date September 5, 1918.

D.N.Howe, founder of Manchester College as a UnitedBrethren College was born ~~October~~ January 15, 1848 and died October 10, 1921. Services were held in the college chapel.

The first Vacation School to be held in this church was authorized May 27, 1920. Schools in the district were sponsored by the district and supervised by L.W.Shultz.

R.H.Miller was called as pastor Aug. 8, 1921 but declined. He accepted a second call on July 20, 1922.

The first church directory was made in 1922 sponsored by the Men's Bible Class. The committee was: A.R.Eikenberry, Calvin Ulrey, and U.R.Young.

SOME NOTES OF INTEREST.

A WALNUT STREET MESSENGER was issued quarterly 1922-1928, Its editors were:- Otho Winger, Elder and R.H.Miller, Pastor.

On March 2, 1924 Noah Baker began service as Janitor of the church.

On April 4, 1928 Pastor H.L.Hartsough reported that 48 names were added to the Membership list.

On September 3, 1931 Edward Kintner, reported that Annual Conference of 1931 ruled that objections to the granting of letters must be presented in writing.

On April 13, 1944 it was decided that all letters granted be made a matter of record on minutes.

On July 16, 1953 Carl Kester became full time custodian of the church house.

On Feb. 28, 1954 Marlin Brightbill was chosen as Asst/ Pastor- term to begin September 1, 1954. He resigned April 8, 1956

BRIEF HISTORICAL PICTURE OF THE MANCHESTER CHURCH

The present Manchester Church area is only a small part of the area covered by the mother (Eel River) church first organized in 1838. The original territory has since been divided into the present congregations:- Manchester, West Manchester, Eel River, West Eel River Liberty Mills and Spring Creek.

In 1852 the territory was divided into the Manchester and Eel River congregations. Manchester territory was in northern Wabash County.

In 1911 the Manchester area was again divided into the Manchester and West Manchester congregations.

Today we remember primarily the work of the last 50 years.

Buildings and Church Houses

1856 a log church house was built 3 miles S. E. of North Manchester. (For 18 years worship had been carried on in homes).

1858 a large frame house 40 feet by 80 feet was built on the same site as the present West Manchester Building.

In 1881 a church building on the site here was built 40 feet by 60 feet at a cost of $3,300.

In 1891 the present West Manchester Church house was built.

In 1907 the brick structure here was removed and a large brick building constructed, part of whose walls are in the present structure.

An addition of an education plant was made in 1925.

In 1951 the church was remodelled to appear as it now stands.

Currently plans are underway to add an educational building.

ANNUAL CONFERENCES have been held here in the years 1878, 1888, 1900, 1929, 1945.

Manchester College began here as a Brethren School in 1895. In 1911 Otho Winger became president with an enrollment of 125 students. Since 1911 it has increased to over 1000 students. The faculty and students have played an important part in the life of this congregation.

Missionaries who have gone out from here are: Alice King Eby; Raymond Cottrell; Lillian Gresso; Mable Winger Moomaw; Josephine (Keever) Flory; Dr. John Hamer; and Claude and June Wolfe.

Ministers licensed during the period were:- Lloyd Blickenstaff; George Hunn; Ralph Finnell; Arthur Shull; Paul Hiatt; Vernon Miller; Dean Frantz; Ernest Shull; Vance Sanger; Gordon Shull; Edwin Esbensen; Gladden Mathis; Henry Esbensen; John Hamer; Kenneth Frantz; Richard Moomaw; Herbert Fisher; Phillip Werking; Robert Neher and Geneva G.
